

BECOME AN FDIC MONEY SMART TRAINER

HELP ADDRESS FINANCIAL EDUCATION NEEDS IN YOUR COMMUNITY BY BECOMING A FDIC MONEY SMART TRAINER.

This FDIC train-the trainer course will give you the practical experience you need to teach financial literacy classes to consumers who lack necessary money management and financial planning skills. In this one-day workshop, you will learn how to use the Money Smart curriculum to help consumers enhance their knowledge of important financial matters. Through the use of lectures, presentations, demonstrations and exercises, you will:

- learn valuable teaching techniques;
- receive instruction on how to coach one-on-one;
- receive valuable feedback from FDIC trainers; and
- network with representatives from other organizations in your community.

AS A MONEY SMART TRAINER, YOU CAN HELP ADULTS LEARN:

- the basics of banking
- how to build/maintain good credit
- how to maintain a checking account
- good money-management skills
- how to develop a savings plan
- all about consumer credit reports
- important facts about borrowing
- what home ownership is all about.
